Endorsed by

Dear Colleagues,

It is with great pleasure we invite you to the 2nd Laparoscopic Surgical Week, which will be held in Naples on April, 4 - 8, 2016, coordinated by Muffazal Lakdawala and myself.

The 2015 edition was a real success for the high scientific level of the program and of the Faculty and for the considerable number of participants.

During the week, in order to gather the international scientific community, in particular from the Mediterranean countries, in a unique educational and cultural project on bariatric and metabolic surgery, we are organizing the 1st Mediterranean Obesity and Metabolic Surgery Summit, which will be held on Thursday, on April 7, 2016.

The scientific program of the course will include 14 live surgeries mainly Revisional but also some Single incision and challenging cases as also 20 lectures and case presentations by leading bariatric surgeons from across the globe.

The participants will be able to get in the operation room and will watch the operation commented by experts.

So they will have the opportunity to perform the latest techniques with the most modern technologies.

Re-operations and revisions are the most challenging field of application of these advanced technologies and we are very pleased to share with you the insight of this evolving area that we have developed around the world.

Very interesting will be also the "How I do it" session in which we will perform 3D and Single Incisions.

The Course Coordinators look forward to receiving your registration on www.mcmcongressi.it/eventi and are sure that science and life pleasures will nicely combine during your stay in Naples.

We look forward to seeing you in this heavenly place!

Luigi Angrisani & Muffazal Lakdawala
